1.1.97
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, September 10, 2003
www.NewCovenant.me

1. Take responsibility for where you are and cling not to the past, the past experiences and emotions of yesteryear. Ted, a new day, a new season, a new dispensation in Me, and Ted, you—a new you, a free you, you are free, free, free.

And I want you to be free in the fullness of your freedom.
I want you to think free in the fullness of your freedom.
I want you to free others – in the fullness of your freedom – your freedom that comes from only me.

All other forces control – I liberate. I only give kingdoms and rulerships and leadership to free people who free people. So many have embraced parts of Me that you don't think know Me at all, and may even curse Me, yet have the ability to embrace portions of what I am and what I am now doing.

2. And Ted, I am freedomizing all mankind—all, all who will let Me. This is the day, this is the hour—of My power, My kingdom coming through My people in powerful freedom, freedom, freedom, and all who choose freedom to know Me intimately rather than perfunctory actions which comply with rules and lists of restrictions and compulsory items—which dictate and destroy and emasculate the very creativity which I wish to flourish in My body.

3. Wallowing in the pig pen, eating the husks with the pigs, are so many of My people, who could be eating at My table and experiencing the grandeur of My intimacy, but settle for rules and lists and approvals of would-be-thought-high people that people put in authority, and not necessarily who I have put in authority.

4. My authority comes from My freedom, and that's why I empower all to be free and experience Me and My freedom and the freedom we designed for all of our creation.

5. But Ted, faith, promises, willingness, openness—must My Mine live in, to walk in My freedom—not just for moments of ecstasy, but as their lifestyle—their normal consistent habits of how they think and process all that's going on with them, in them, and around them.

6. Prelude to My provision are My promises—My words—My Word—My body—My Me.

My body cannot know and experience My provision consistently and not care for My body. My body must care for My body.

7. Cease the bickering and agenda analyzing sought for wall-making.

8. A new thinking I call for which rests on the foundation of purity and freedom and allows others to choose what level of intimacy they choose in Me.

9. Because one submerses and one sprinkles and one drinks wine—do I omit or favor or explicate their differences?

10. Ted, I receive My body and My body must, must, must change how they think of My body.

11. My body must move with me and let truth separate truth from truth past which was not everlasting truth but temporal truth.

12. My truth is everlasting truth, yet I give much truth applicable to seasons and situations and lives and circumstances—for that moment, for that season, for that assemblage. But Ted, I change all the time for I am ever new and not old. I create and I am creating all the time. I am giving birth to My Mine all the time and opening the eyes of My wanters continuously.

13. Think not on the paradigms which limit and constrict and honor the few—but in horizons of freedom which empower My body unlimited, to be My body unconstricted—loosed, freed, empowered, for all are gifted, in Me.

14. All have power—in Me—that has gone undeveloped, unrecognized, and sometimes intentionally buried—buried by My body, buried by controllers seeking only self-perpetuation—so afraid of Me in My Mine, so afraid of one who stands up, so afraid of the sincere seeker who asks sincere questions.

15. Oh Ted, your security is in Me alone and My body must recognize this for themselves, and deeply buy in to My goodness and graciousness and My empowerment for the yielded, the yielded, the surrendered who empower all those around them.

16. How big do you want to be—how many can you free? How much freedom can you bring to your mate, your children, your friends, your coworkers and colleagues, for Ted, that's where it starts, that's where it starts, that's where it always starts—the home, the intimate relationships, and that's why the home and family unit as I established is fought so hard, so ferociously, so tenaciously, so consistently, by mammon-makers who care not for the tender souls of My children and how they rip the guts of emotion in perversion of My values and My design.

17. Oh Ted, freedom—re-meter, recalibrate the value system of My body who will listen, to set aside the values of honoring the few and elevating the ones to put themselves forward, and care for My lowly and meek of heart who have nothing else to turn to, that have turned to evil and wherever they could find acceptance—accept My body and value My priceless ones who can do nothing for you, as you freely focus on freedomizing them into My design for them—not your design for them—but My design for them, one by one, multitude by multitude, day by day, at My direction.

18. Gary oh Gary, I thank you. Donna oh Donna I thank you. I thank you.

19. Oh great helpers I bring from every tribe and tongue and translate My desires for freedom to My body. I am. I am. I will. I am.

20. Stepping up against walls of centuries—stone and mortar and strength of man plus—you stand, stand, and be not afraid. The freedom-seekers will seek freedom, and the control seekers will diminish, diminish, diminish in their power against you.

21. I walk with every seeker and every stander-upper who will stand and surrender—move forth in Me—letting Me share My heart, My values, My temporal truth and My everlasting truth.

22. Everlasting I am, truth I am, Friend, Friend, Friend—I am to you who let Me—you, you, you oh reader and hearer, you who wonder if I'm in these words, you, oh magician and money makers and mammon perpetuators – you—oh tender and hard, hurt and forgiven—I am, and I am outstretched to you in parables not—but in plain sight, of My values of meekness, tenderness and freedom.

23. My friendship is open to all My body, and My design is open to every individual—Ted, 6 months, 6 months, 6 months—can you teach 6 years worth—for open shall they be to Me and My design and hardened hearts not. Oh tender, tender, tender, open to Me, experiencing Me, rivering Me—on bedrock of truth everlasting and purity and Me, Me, Me.

24. Oh smile, oh encouraged be and lambs grow for Me, with Me, experiencing the joy of maturity-freedomizing of Me, of Mine, in Me.

25. Oh I am and altars I raise in all of Me unashamed—one—recognizing no walls between My Me and their all.

26. Walls crumble under My revelation of My Freedom and intimacy sought with My creation.

27. Thank you Ted for standing up and standing up My body to receive Me, and thus their freedom, directly from Me, from Me, from Me, in power, empowering them to be them and walk uninhibited with My body, all facilitating the flow of blood and oxygen and all necessary nutrients to all of My body.

28. Thank you.
Thank you.
Thank you My children, My friends, for letting Me be Me—and letting Me help you—be you.
Thank you.